Master of Science in Applied Geophysics

In collaboration with several industry partners, we are able to offer a certain number of scholarships for the joint Masters' program. Scholarships can be granted on two different levels:

- Comprehensive scholarships cover the tuition fees of 2000 € /11000 € plus a support on living and mobility costs of 9000 € per year.
- Partial scholarships are available mainly for EU/EFTA-students with German language skills at 2000 € per year, which cover the tuition fees completely.

All scholarships are awarded on a competitive basis, taking into account special qualifications and prerequisites, requested by the donating companies. Decisions on the scholarships are made by the academic committee after the application deadline on July. The scholarships are awarded for the period of two years.
